KELLER WILLIAMS REALTY EAST IDAHO

The East Idaho Agent Playbook

Your path to 30 closings a year.

The goal, the numbers, the plan and the weekly rhythm behind a 30-closing business, built on the models top agents use, with the math done for you.

From Steven Hatch, Operating Principal, and Debbie Richards, Team Leader Idaho Falls · Pocatello

START HERE

Thirty closings isn't luck. It's math, then a habit.

Most agents set a goal in January and hope the year delivers it. The agents who hit their number every year work backward: they decide the goal, turn it into a few numbers they can track, build a plan that produces those numbers, and then work that plan every week.

This playbook walks you through that path for a 30-closing year, built on the models in The Millionaire Real Estate Agent (MREA) and the KW Business Planning Clinic. Every section ends with a worksheet. Grab a pen.

Have a Goal

Know why you want it and what 30 closings will change for you.

Define the Numbers

Turn 30 closings into appointments, agreements and income.

Set the Plan

Build the lead generation and database that produce those appointments.

Execute

Work it weekly with a 4-1-1, a calendar and someone holding you to it.

What a 30-closing year looks like

2.5
closings a month

60 appointments a year, about 5 a month

44
signed listings and buyer agreements to close 30

1,200
contacts in a database you actually work

You can learn the math anywhere. Here's what changes when you do it here.

Training every week
Live in Idaho Falls and Pocatello and on Zoom, plus Skillshare and masterminds with local producers.

Someone holding you to it
Leaders down the hall who review your 4-1-1 and Command tracking your numbers for you.

The rest of the plan
The full Budget Model at the Clinic, and BOLD, Ignite and Breakthrough 120 to build the skills.

The median producing agent here closed 6 sides in the last 12 months, vs. 4 at other brokerages.[1] See it for yourself: 20 minutes with Debbie, (208) 590-7653.

For illustration only. No promises. Every number in this playbook is a hypothetical example built from MREA research averages and a $10,000 average commission chosen for easy math (all commissions are negotiable; see page 6). Your results will vary with your skills, dedication, market and many other factors. Full disclaimer on page 16. [1] Snake River MLS, individual producing agents, 10/1/2025–9/30/2026.

STEP ONE

1 Have a goal worth chasing

A number on a whiteboard won't get you out of bed on a slow February morning. A reason will. MREA calls this your Big Why, and it's the first of the mindsets every millionaire agent shares.

Big Why

The purpose behind the goal. Family, freedom, faith, a debt gone, a dream funded. Choose the why that moves you right now.

Think big

Big goals need big models. Aim high enough that the old way of working can't get you there, so you're forced to build a better one.

Accountability

Goals you share and track get hit. Goals you keep in your head get rescheduled. Decide now who will hold you to yours.

Why 30? Thirty closings is about two and a half a month. It's big enough to build a real business with savings, systems and choices, and it's reachable for a solo agent working a plan. It's also where many agents first feel the pull to hire help. If your number is 12, 50 or 100, the steps are the same; only the math changes.

STEP TWO

2 Define the numbers

The MREA Economic Model begins with the end in mind. You start with the result you want and back into the number of appointments it takes to get there. It answers one question every agent should know cold: how many appointments do I need this week?

The three drivers of your business

01

Leads → Appointments

Generating leads and turning them into buyer and seller appointments.

02

Appointments → Agreements

Earning a signed listing agreement or buyer representation agreement.

03

Agreements → Closings

Serving the client all the way to a closed transaction.

The conversion rates top agents hit

Each of those steps has a conversion rate. The MREA rates below aren't random: they are the averages from research on hundreds of top-producing agents and teams. Plenty of agents beat them.

STEP	SELLER SIDE	BUYER SIDE
Appointment → signed agreement	75%	70%
Signed agreement → closed	70%	70%
Share of your business	50%	50%

WORKSHEET · KNOW YOUR CONVERSION RATES

Look at the last 12 months. Divide agreements by appointments. Example: 5 listing appointments and 3 signed listings is 3 ÷ 5 = 60%.

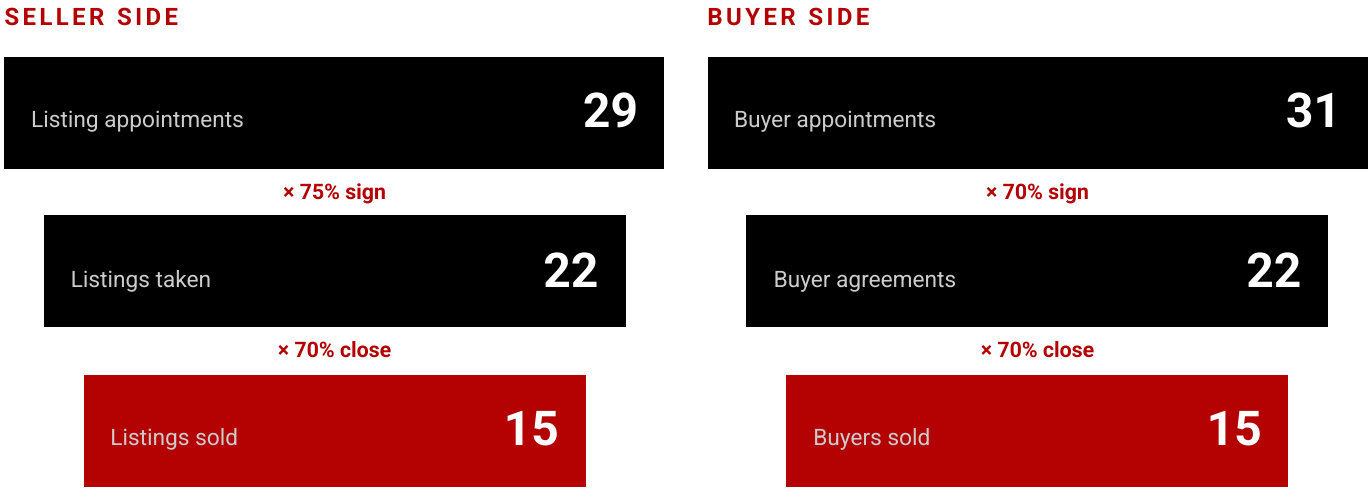

Listing appointments	_____	Buyer appointments	_____
Listings taken	_____	Signed buyer agreements	_____
My listing conversion	_____ %	My buyer conversion	_____ %

Under 70%? That's not a lead problem. It's a skill you can train, and it's the fastest raise you'll ever give yourself.

THE ECONOMIC MODEL, WORKED FOR YOU

30 closings, backward

Start at the bottom line, 30 closed transactions, and climb back up through the conversion rates. Half come from sellers, half from buyers.

YOUR 30-CLOSING TARGETS	YEAR	MONTH	WEEK
Listing appointments	29	2–3	about 1
Buyer appointments	31	2–3	about 1
Total appointments	60	5	1–2

Math: 15 ÷ 70% = 21.4 listings needed, ÷ 75% = 28.6 listing appointments. 15 ÷ 70% = 21.4 buyer agreements, ÷ 70% = 30.6 buyer appointments. Rounded up, because half an appointment doesn't close.

Five appointments a month.

That's the whole game for a 30-closing year. Not 30 "deals." Not a busy feeling. Five real, face-to-face buyer or seller appointments every month, every month. Raise your conversion rates and that number drops even further.

FOLLOW THE MONEY

What 30 closings is worth

Gross commission income (GCI) is what comes in. What matters is what you keep. Here's a solo agent closing 30 transactions on the KW MyWay 12K plan at Keller Williams Realty East Idaho.

30 CLOSINGS × $10,000*	AMOUNT
Gross commission income	$300,000
Market center split, 30% until the $12,000 cap (capped on closing 4)	−$12,000
KW royalty, 6% until the $3,000 cap	−$3,000
Transaction fee after cap, $125 × 26	−$3,250
Compliance, $25 × 30	−$750
E&O insurance, $40 per closing, $500 annual cap	−$500
Monthly fee, $110 × 12	−$1,320
Annual fee	−$25
Total brokerage costs	−$20,845
You keep, before your own business expenses	$279,155

kwMyWay

Same 30 closings, different commission*

PER CLOSING	GCI	COSTS	YOU KEEP
$8,000	$240,000	$20,720	91%
$10,000	$300,000	$20,845	93%
$12,000	$360,000	$20,845	94%

The work doesn't change: still 60 appointments. Because of the cap, costs barely move, so you keep more as your business grows.

More important than what it costs is what you make. Would you spend a couple thousand dollars more to close more deals? It's not a cost. It's an investment, and it comes with a return.

WORKSHEET · MY NUMBERS

My average commission	$ _____	Listing appointments needed	_____
× closings goal	_____	Buyer appointments needed	_____
= My GCI goal	$ _____	Appointments per month	_____

About these commissions. All commissions are negotiable. We had to use a number for illustration, we picked a round number that is not intended to indicate any percentage or fixed commission rate. We picked this for easy math.

THE REST OF THE STORY

We gave you the top line. Here's what we left out.

The math above tells you how many appointments to go on. It doesn't tell you where every dollar of that $279,155 should go, what to spend on lead generation, when to hire, or what to pay yourself first. That's the part agents work through in the room with us.

3 STEP THREE
Set the plan

You know you need 60 appointments. The MREA Lead Generation Model answers the next question: where will they come from? MREA says you have two jobs in real estate: generate leads and get listings. Your database is your business.

Prospecting-based, marketing-enhanced

	PROSPECTING	MARKETING
Costs	Time	Money
Style	Proactive	Passive
Results	Immediate	Delayed

Lead with prospecting. It's one-on-one, it costs almost nothing, and you know right away if it's working. Use marketing to make your prospecting land: call with an offer of value, then send the piece.

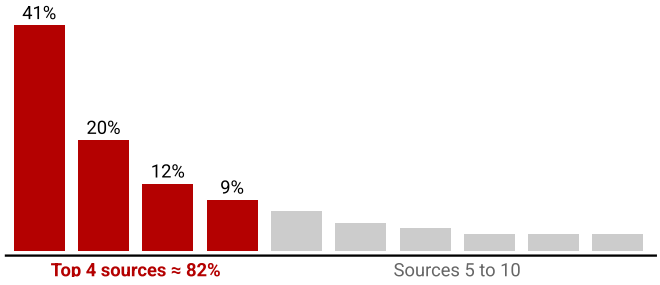

Leads vs. contacts

A lead has shown interest in what you do, but you haven't had a two-way conversation yet.

A contact is someone you've talked with who knows you're in real estate and has given you permission for an ongoing, value-based relationship.

Your job is to capture leads, turn them into contacts, and keep every contact close enough that you're who they call.

The Rule of 4

KW research finds top agents get about 82% of their business from four sources or fewer. Pick a few, master them, and re-check them every year. Start with your sphere: people who already know, like and trust you. You can build a big business on sphere alone.

WORKSHEET · MY TOP 4 LEAD SOURCES

Today	Adding this year

WORK YOUR DATABASE

Stay top of mind, all year

A database only pays when you systematically communicate with it. MREA's research points to three touch campaigns. Put every person in your database on one.

19
TO CONNECT · FOR LEADS

4	Quarterly phone calls
12	Monthly emails, newsletters, market reports or videos
2	Promotional mailers: a magnet, calendar or printed market report
1	Annual event, party or get-together

TO CEMENT · NEW CONTACTS

1	One high-value touch right after a lead becomes a contact. It locks in the relationship you just started and opens the door to the next conversation.

36
TO CONVERT · FOR CONTACTS

4	Quarterly phone calls
26	Every-other-week emails with real value
2	Events, get-togethers or parties
4	Promotional mailers: a magnet, calendar or market report

The quarterly call is the touch that matters most.

Both campaigns start with four phone calls a year. KW research with top agents says it's the single most valuable touch you can make. You can't time when someone will move, but if you talk to them every quarter, you'll be in the conversation when they do.

Four keys to every touch

Frequency
Don't under-touch out of fear of over-touching.

Consistency
Spread touches through the year and keep going.

Permission
Ask to opt in. Two-way beats one-way.

Paired value
Send what matters to that person or group.

THE LEAD GENERATION MODEL, WORKED FOR YOU

How big does your database need to be?

Here's the MREA database math, run backward from the 60 appointments a 30-closing year needs.

The assumptions

1. Your contacts get 36 touches a year.
2. 6% of them will buy or sell this year. People move about every 9 to 10 years.
3. You convert 50% of those into appointments.
4. Ask for referrals and stay in touch, and 4% will send you one. You convert half.

Each contact is worth

Moving this year: 6% × 50%	0.03 appointments
Referrals: 4% × 50%	0.02 appointments
Per contact, per year	0.05 appointments

WITHOUT ASKING FOR REFERRALS

2,000

contacts needed: 60 ÷ 0.03

ASKING EVERY CONTACT FOR REFERRALS

1,200

contacts needed: 60 ÷ 0.05

Asking for referrals cuts the database you need by 40%. And 50% conversion is an estimate, not a ceiling. Agents who sharpen their skills get to 60%, 80% and beyond, and the database they need gets smaller again.

WORKSHEET · MY DATABASE

Appointments my Economic Model needs	_____
÷ 0.05 = contacts I need	_____
Contacts I talk to regularly today (not just names in my phone)	_____
Contacts to add this year	_____
÷ 12 = to add each month · ÷ 52 = to add each week	_____ / _____

Example: an agent with 400 real contacts needs 800 more, about 67 a month or 16 a week. Don't try this from a spreadsheet: KW's Command schedules your quarterly calls and logs every touch, which is what makes 1,200 contacts workable.

THE REST OF THE STORY

Knowing the plan isn't the same as having the skill.

You now know how many contacts you need and how to touch them. What turns that into appointments is skill on the phone, at the door and at the kitchen table: what to say, what to ask, and how to handle the objection you'll hear on Tuesday. That's trained, not read.

STEP FOUR

4 Execute, every week

A plan you don't look at is a wish. KW agents run their year on a 4-1-1: one page that connects your annual goal to this month and this week. Here's the 4-1-1 for a 30-closing year.

ANNUAL		MONTHLY		WEEKLY
Closings	30	Closings	2–3	Appointments	1–2
GCI	$300,000	Appointments	5	Lead gen blocks	5 mornings
Listing appointments	29	New contacts	per your plan	New contacts	per your plan
Buyer appointments	31	Quarterly calls	⅓ of database	Value email	every other week
Contacts in database	1,200	Event (quarterly)	plan it	Numbers reviewed	Friday

Quarterly calls: 1,200 contacts × 4 calls = 4,800 a year, about 400 a month or 20 a workday.

Your daily lead generation block

Lead generate every day for as long as it takes to hit your appointment goal. Time block it in the morning, before the day takes over.

1. Prepare. Build your call list and practice your conversations.
2. Act. Calls, texts, emails, social posts and door-knocks where appropriate.
3. Maintain. Follow up on commitments, send notes and log every touch in your database.

Predictable effort leads to predictable outcomes.

Avoid the traps

- Hiding behind marketing and skipping prospecting.
- Relying only on referrals to grow your database.
- Skipping the quarterly calls.
- Leads that never make it into your database.
- Three databases instead of one.
- Touch campaigns you started and stopped.

⚠ WARNING · TCPA AND DO NOT CALL RULES

Every call and text you make for business is covered by the Telephone Consumer Protection Act (TCPA) and federal and state Do Not Call rules. Violations can cost $500 to $1,500 per call or text, and more under federal and state rules. Know them before you dial.

- Check before every call or text: the National Do Not Call Registry, Idaho's no-call list, and your market center and personal Do Not Call lists. Don't assume a purchased lead list is clean.
- No auto-dialers, prerecorded or artificial-voice messages, or ringless voicemails without the person's prior express written consent.
- Only between 8 a.m. and 9 p.m. in the person's time zone. Say who you are, who you're calling for and how to reach you.
- Honor every "don't contact me" right away. Keep a written Do Not Call policy, and keep records of consent and requests. Your market center can set you up with Registry access.

BEYOND 30

This playbook covers two of the five models.

MREA is built on five fundamental business models, and they work together. You just built the first two. The other three are where a good business becomes one you own instead of one that owns you.

✓ Lead Generation Model	Where those appointments come from. You just did this.
Budget Model	Where every dollar goes and what to invest in lead generation. Business Planning Clinic
Organizational Model	Who you hire, in what order, and how you pay them. Career Visioning, 30-60-90 and the Leverage series

About the numbers in this playbook

IMPORTANT · FOR ILLUSTRATIVE PURPOSES ONLY

This playbook is for educational and illustrative purposes only. Nothing in it is a promise, guarantee or prediction of income, closings, appointments or any other result, and no such promise is made by Keller Williams Realty East Idaho, Keller Williams Realty, LLC, or any of their agents or staff. Every number is a hypothetical example built from industry research averages and round figures chosen for easy math. None of them are the actual results of any agent. Your results will vary and depend on many things, including your skills, experience, effort, dedication and consistency, how you generate leads and how much you invest in your business, market conditions such as interest rates and inventory, and other variables no one controls. Many agents do not reach the results shown. This is not legal, tax or financial advice. Talk with your own advisors before making business decisions.

Commissions. All commissions are negotiable. We had to use a number for illustration, we picked a round number that is not intended to indicate any percentage or fixed commission rate. We picked this for easy math.

Conversion and database figures. The conversion rates, the 50/50 buyer-seller mix and the database assumptions (6% move each year, 4% refer, 50% conversion) are MREA research averages used for illustration. Your own rates may be higher or lower.

KW MyWay costs. The 12K plan example assumes a solo agent (not on a team) closing 30 equal-sized transactions in one plan year. Split and royalty are calculated on GCI; cap and royalty reset on your anniversary date. Figures reflect the market center's plan as of October 2026, and final terms follow the market center's current agreement. The example doesn't include your own business expenses such as marketing, MLS and association dues, licensing, vehicle or taxes.

Calling and texting. Follow the Telephone Consumer Protection Act, the National Do Not Call Registry and Idaho's rules (see the warning on page 12). The summary in this playbook is not legal advice and rules change; talk with your market center or an attorney about what applies to you.
